Remembrance Day

Remembrance Day is held on the 11th of November - the 11th day of the 11th month of the year. A two minute silence is always held at 11am to remember the millions who have died at war.

Remembrance Day was first held in 1919, one year after World War I ended. This day is also known as Armistice Day, which is the original name to mark the day World War I ended. It is now known as Remembrance Day to remember all the people who have died since World War I.

Poppies are worn on Remembrance Day because they are the flowers which grew on the battlefields after World War I ended.

A charity called The Royal British Legion run the Poppy Appeal which raises money to help old soldiers who are still alive and soldiers who are still serving their country.
