

Thorp Perrow's Newsletter

Spring is starting to show all around the Arboretum.

What's new at Thorp Perrow?

Arboretum

The sun is beginning to shine

After what seems to be the wettest winter we've endured, we are very thankful to see the sun in the sky. So too are the spring flowers.

Currently the volunteers are very busy dividing and splitting the snowdrops.

Things to look out for on your next visit:-

- Bulbs are blooming - look out for the various types of Daffodils.
- Blossoms appearing - head over to section Z where you can see some beautiful blossom.
- The wildlife are waking up.

Did you know you can donate a tree, wildflower seed, bulbs and benches to the Arboretum? A lasting token to remember someone, a celebration, a thank you or just because.

Tearoom

National Pie Week

We are celebrating National Pie Week from Monday 4th - Sunday 10th March with daily specials served 11.30am - 3pm.

If pie's aren't your thing, we have a delicious spring menu filled with mouth watering meals, made fresh to order.

Remember you can eat in our tearoom without paying for entrance to the Arboretum. We look forward to welcoming you soon.

Bird of Prey

Volunteers wanted.

The brilliant Bird of Prey Centre at Thorp Perrow is looking to build a reliable, passionate team of volunteers to help share our love for wildlife and conservation.

Our volunteers will be a very important part of the team, aiding our falconers with the daily running of the centre.

Jobs will include;

- Helping with basic bird of prey and animal husbandry, work such as cleaning aviaries, bays and water bowls. Plus, many other tasks that are around and about the birds but not always with them.
- There are aspects of volunteering which will get you directly involved with the birds, especially alongside the flying team.
- The majority of our work is done outside, in all weathers. Previous experience isn't necessary, not being afraid of hard work and a good team player is essential.
